ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF MANAGERS
OF THE
Presbyterian Hospital
OF THE
CITY OF CHICAGO.

To the Members of the Society;

The report of the Board of Managers of the Society of the Presbyterian Hospital for the year ending April, 1894, should begin by announcing that a calamity has befallen our beloved institution.

For several years previous to last August, George M. Bogue was our president. An examination of the affairs of the Hospital disclosed the fact that he had misappropriated and misused about $69,000 of our money and securities.

Mr. Bogue had hitherto enjoyed exceptional confidence in business circles of our city, and the Hospital management was also confident of his integrity. But the trust thus confided in him he abused.

During the months intervening since our discovery of his defalcation, persistent efforts have been made by our finance committee to recover the loss. About $19,000 have been secured and some equities in real estate, of more or less value, have been offered.

But while we announce this, it is a source of gratification to be able to report that in spite of the discouraging features of our past years' experience, the work has not fallen off, but has been a little in advance of any previous year.

While other institutions may have felt the influence of the World's Fair year, a comparison with previous years shows that we have received practically no benefit from this source, but on the contrary were obliged to bear extra burdens for which we received no adequate return.

The following patients were treated as will appear by the superintendent's report:

Patients remaining April 1, 1893.....	201
Patients cured.....	1,362
Patients improved.....	279
Patients unimproved.....	24
Patients not treated.....	63
Patients died.....	99
Patients remaining April 1, 1894.....	208

Number admitted this year 2,035, as against 2,131 of last year, whereas there were 72,452 days of treatment as against previous year of 72,270. Of the days of treatment 48,470 were pay and part pay, and 23,982 were free.

The daily average of free patients was sixty-six; pay and part pay were 132, making total daily average 198.

The lowest number of patients for any one day was 170; the highest 228.

It will be seen that notwithstanding the stringent times the average number of strictly charity patients has not fallen below the number of free beds, although our donations have materially diminished.

The treasurer's report will show the cost of administration for the year, to be $90,732.14 and expense for interests, insurance, taxes, etc., $5,438.40, making a total of $96,190.54.

Receipts from donations were.....	$ 4,340.28
Receipts for free beds.....	8,250.00
Receipts from interest on endowment funds and other sources..	9,679.45
Receipts from pay patients.....	68,677.72

Making a total of$ 90,947 45

Thus showing a net deficit of $5,243.09. If, however, from this amount we deduct $2,577.18 deferred interest, due from bad investments, and $508.50 expense incurred in consequence of these investments, the deficit for the year would have been $2,157.41.

In considering the per capita expense for the purpose of comparison it is highly important that we recognize fundamental differences which distinguish one hospital from another.

In the first place we must take into consideration the class of patients, whether pay, part pay or free, and also the social condition of the same. It will appear evident to any one that in a mixed hospital discriminations cannot be made and consequently the per capita cost is necessarily higher than if all were entirely free. Then too, hospital construction figures largely in per capita maintenance. In certain styles of construction the service is necessarily greater and consequently more expensive; the superficies are also greater, thus requiring more heat, and there are various other differences which at once suggest themselves.

But greater than any of these is the character of the work, whether medical or surgical, and of the later whether acute or chronic.

It goes without saying that the greater the percentage of medical cases, the less the average cost of maintenance, while on the other hand the larger the proportion of chronic surgery, the greater the cost of maintenance.

In acute surgery whether purely operative or emergency the great item of expense is incurred in the beginning, and indeed in many of these cases where asepsis can be maintained, or where, as in case of fractures the original cost completes the dressing, service and food cover the principal items of expense.

But not so in chronic cases, that is those who enter the hospital with extensive septic lesions which it is frequently impossible to render entirely aseptic, and hence suppurations follow, with the expensive detail in the case of such infection.

On the other hand, the popular surgery of the day which one finds in private hospitals, viz: Abdominal and plastic, except in the matter of service, is the least expensive of all.

In computing the cost of each patient one must remember that the expense was incurred for the patient, not for the employe's as well. So that in making the calculation one should divide the item by the number of days of patients, and not by the days of patients and employes, as is frequently done.

In computing free work, one must take into consideration the number of patients treated, and the percentage of free as compared with the whole number.

For in very many cases it would be manifestly unwise to give charity, in fact it would be an insult to offer it, so that an institution which has a mixed class of patients, is only charged with caring for the beds it has endowed, and the obligations it has assumed.

And the report shows that we have done this, but only had a percentage of 33 free, or an average of 66 beds, whereas if the capacity of the hospital had been limited to that number of beds, it would have been entirely free.

The Patten Bed in the Maternity Hospital, by Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Patten.

By comparing this year's report with that of last you will notice an increase of two perpetual endowments: The Lake Forest Church Bed, endowed by the congregation of the Lake Forest Presbyterian Church, and the Sunshine Bed, the funds for which were raised through the indefatigable efforts of Miss Frances D. Gould.

A few years ago Miss Gould learned, by chance, that the sum of $5,000 was being raised by the ladies of another hospital for a similar purpose, and so, after consulting with her friends, she decided to make a similar effort.

To raise this amount by small subscriptions was no easy matter, and we are sure she must have met with many difficulties during her efforts, and that it was only the importance of the object that gave her the strength and courage to accomplish it.

By examining the report of the Treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society you will notice that this society realized quite handsomely from the New York Philharmonic Society concert, given under the management of Mrs. A. W. Green. We congratulate Mrs. Green on her splendid success.

While we thank the friends of the hospital for their previous donations, we would respectfully impress upon them, if possible, a still more liberal support during the coming year, that we may not only further enlarge our work, but more especially make such needed repairs and additions which are still necessary to make the plant more efficient.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

By order of the Board of Managers,

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY.

Ten years ago, in May, 1884, a small band of women met to form themselves into a society to help in the work of the newly established Presbyterian Hospital. Many of them were inexperienced in work of the kind, hardly knowing what would be required of them, and some, perhaps, faint-hearted, and doubtful as to the necessity of a "Ladies' Aid Society."

A brief review of the work of the past ten years may possibly show that the society has proved its right to exist.

That first year, nine churches were represented on the Board of Managers of the Ladies' Aid Society:—there are now twenty-nine of the churches in the city and the suburbs so represented.

There was then a working force of about seventy women—there are now 125 belonging to the Society, and many outside friends, who might properly be recognized as among its workers.

There were at the end of the first year, four free beds, with the hope of a free bed for children:—there are now sixty-five free beds, of which a fair proportion may be claimed as due to the efforts of the members of this society, and many of these are for children.

The building then occupied as a hospital was small, forming only one wing attached to the present Daniel A. Jones Memorial Building, which is, itself, a gift from one of the members of this society and her family.

The work at that time was of course much less than now; still there was much to be done.

Skillful physicians and surgeons and nurses were the first necessity, and these were at hand; but no less pressing was the necessity for an immediate and sufficient supply of all the furnishings and appliances which supplement the resources of physicians and nurses, and increase the chances of recovery of the patient.

If this small company of women, who first met, had been required to supply the bedding and table furnishings of a hotel, they would have thought it a demand beyond their power. But a great hospital with between two and three hundred inmates, not counting the employes in kitchen and laundry, is not unlike a hotel of similar capacity, except that sickness, with the operations it makes necessary, enters as a factor to be reckoned with, making the demands many times greater than would be those of a hotel of like capacity.

These demands, fortunately, did not come upon the society all at once, but have grown with the growth of the hospital, and at no time has the burden seemed too great, or the carrying it, anything but a pleasure.

The report of the Furnishing Committee will give some idea, not only of the money expended for these necessary appliances, but also of the thought and planning and execution which have made the hospital an abode of comfort for its inmates.

The Visiting Committee, which by its members carries cheer and sympathy to the bedsides of sufferers, will also speak for itself.

The committee which has charge of the supply of delicacies for patients and convalescents has reported generous gifts of fruits and nourishing articles of food each month from the different churches and also gifts of money for the purchase of fresh fruits in their season.

A library is slowly growing in the hospital. From a very small beginning, it has increased to 986 volumes, mainly gifts.

At the last Annual Meeting, the Library fund showed a balance of $21.01, and during the year $8.00 have been received. $12.45 has been expended, for books, covers and numbers, leaving on hand $16.65.

One hundred and fourteen volumes have been given during the year, and 19 purchased. No demand is made by this department on the general fund. The library committee wish to thank the friends who have given books, and who will be gratified to know that this library is one of the great agencies for good in the hospital.

There is no department of the work of the Society which is growing so steadily and so efficiently as that which, with wise and gentle and sympathetic insight deals with the spiritual condition of the patients who come here in need of help for the body. This work, which needs such wisdom, such love, such consecration of spirit, in which Miss Patterson and the Devotional Committee are constantly and faithfully engaged, has been signally blessed during the past year. There have been many conversions, some among the most apparently discouraging cases. Daily services are held, at the bedsides of those who are unable to leave their rooms.

The usual ample Thanksgiving dinner was enjoyed by all, and Christmas was made a time of rejoicing with many gifts, and an abundant dinner provided by Mr. Parsons.

Besides the regular work of the Society, the individual efforts of some of its members have been attended with most gratifying results. The fund of $5,000, needed to endow the Sunshine Bed has been completed, through the untiring efforts of Miss Frances D. Gould of the Second Church. The Concert given by the New York Philharmonic Society, March 9, of which all the expenses were undertaken by Mrs. Augustus W. Green, of the First Church, added a substantial sum to the year's income, besides giving an evening of enjoyment to a large audience.

Though perhaps not strictly within the province of the Ladies' Aid Society, its members wish to place upon record their high appreciation of the work of Miss Riedle, as Matron. To her great executive ability, her sense of order, and her Christian ideal of the duties of her difficult and responsible position, is due, in large measure, the smooth running of the internal affairs of the hospital.

It remains only to speak of our losses—two by removal from the city, Mrs. Knox and Mrs. Balding, and three by death. Mrs. Nathaniel Norton, for a long time the Chairman of the Devotional Committee, and Mrs. Henry A. Osborne, both of the Third Church, with Mrs. Upham, of Waukegan, all earnest and faithful in their work for the hospital, have gone from us during the past year.

After this backward look of ten years, with the encouragement it must bring, we ought surely to hope that the next ten years may see still greater results. Many of those now active in the work may before that time, have laid it down forever, but other hands will take it up, and other hearts will be moved to help, and it will go on, for it is the work of the Master, to whom our reverent and grateful thanks are due for whatever of success has been attained.

Respectfully submitted,

JANE N. HIBBARD,

April 2, 1894.

Secretary.

REPORT OF FURNISHING COMMITTEE.

Your Furnishing Committee finds as the years pass, the wants of the Hospital still increasing. The Maternity, Convalescent and Lung departments each call for their share in this "great charity." Willing hearts and hands are always ready to meet the demands made upon them. New friends come to our aid when least expected. "The Needle Work Guild of America" donated 448 garments. "The Woman's Club Emergency Sewing Society" made 552 garments, and gave a donation of 279 sheets and pillow slips, for which we were truly thankful, as they came at a time when they were very much needed. Not a month passes but we are remembered by the many friends of the Hospital.

Part of this material has been made up by the Church societies, outside parties and in the Hospital.

The furnishing department, through the generosity of our many friends, is in better condition now than it has ever been. It is a great satisfaction to those who visit the housekeeping part of the institution to see everything kept in such perfect order through the executive ability of Miss Riedle, the matron and her able assistants.

If the ladies only knew how well they would be repaid for their trouble they would visit the store rooms and linen closets all over the building, and would go away with new ideas of the system and economy practiced in the hospital.

Hoping the coming year may see our treasury enriched so that your committee may be able to do a great deal more to help the institution.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. J. W. GRISWOLD.
